PREFACE

WITH the present volume American Book-Prices Current completes its third decade. By a fortunate combination of events this Volume XXX is of a singular interest, for the season of 1923-24 was preëminently a season of new values. While the standard bibliographic treasures of past years were adequately represented, the predominant influence was modern, expressed by the increase in value of many comparatively recent books, and the first appearance at high prices of the works of many new authors.

What may be described as the key-sales of the year were those of the late Mr. John Quinn at the Anderson Galleries and of the late Mr. Stephen Wakeman by the American Art Association. Each was a strongly individualized collection, the reading-library of a man of pronounced personality, and the courage to keep his possessions within the limits of his own tastes. As a result, the catalogues of these two collections are by way of becoming bibliographic classics.

Mr. Wakeman's collection was composed entirely of the works of the nine classic American writers: Bryant, Emerson, Hawthorne, Holmes, Longfellow, Lowell, Poe, Thoreau and Whittier. Each piece was in good condition and frequently accompanied by notes in the hand of its owner. It was preëminently a library of Association Books, as many, perhaps the majority, of the items were inscribed or presentation copies. Many items were new to the auction room, most were rare, and the prices were excellent. A fine copy of Bryant's "Embargo," uncut as issued, brought $550.00, an inscribed copy of Lowell's "Commemoration Ode" was sold at $800.00, Holmes's scarce "New England's Master-Key," the Chamberlain copy, at $525.00, and his private copy of "Lecture—1863" at $570.00. The crowning feature of the sale, however, was a magnificent collection of the works of Poe, nearly all inscribed or autographed, of which "Al Aaraaf, Tamerlane, and Minor Poems" brought $2,900.00; "Tales of the Grotesque and Arabesque, Vol. I," revised in Poe's autograph for a new edition, $3,400.00; three copies of "The Raven and other Poems," one, inscribed to Elizabeth Barrett Browning, $4,200.00; another, an autograph stanza laid in, $2,600.00; "Eureka, a Prose Poem," $2,000.00, and a copy of the excessively rare "Prospectus of the Stylus" with an autograph note on the verso, $1,000.00. Among other notable inscribed books was Holmes's "Life of R. W. Emerson," a presentation copy to J. G. Whittier, which brought $710.00

The Quinn library, dispersed in five sections, throughout the season was of extraordinary interest, and its catalogue, perhaps the most fascinating catalogue raisonnée of recent years, will serve as a practical hand-book of modern British and American writers for a long time to come. The book is, in Mr. Quinn's own phrase, "a reflection of a widely interested intellectual life," that interest, as here displayed, covering every phase of the modern world of books in English. The price-interest of the sales, however, centered mainly in the Manuscripts. Among them may be cited the fine early Stevenson Manuscript "Monmouth," which sold at $1,200.00, that of Joyce's "Ulysses" at $1,975.00 and two odes of George Meredith, "Alsace Lorraine," at $670.00 and "Napoleon" at $775.00. The sales of the Manuscripts of Joseph Conrad furnished the chief sensation not only of the sale, but of the season. The list is too long for citation here, but it may be mentioned that seventeen of the manuscripts of Conrad's chief works sold for $2,000.00 or over, the highest prices being those of "Almayer's Folly," $5,300.00, "Chance," $6,000.00, "Under Western Eyes," $6,900.00, and "Victory" at $8,100.00. Whether these unprecedented values will hold remains to be seen, but they at least prove the increasing appreciation of recent authors and the wisdom of indulging strongly individual tastes.

A further consignment of the library of Herman Le Roy Edgar, at the American Art Association, furnished some interesting items, among them Kipling's "Quartette," a presentation copy to Julian Ralph, which sold for $910.00, and the rare First editions of Thackeray: "The Snob" at $1,650.00, "The Gownsman" at $900.00, "Flore et Zephyr" at $800.00, "The Second Funeral of Napoleon" at $725.00, and the precious "Exquisites" at $3,450.00. At the same galleries, the library of a Pennsylvania Collector maintained a high level of excellence, the items being invariably in fine condition. Among them was a copy of Blake's scarce ode, "America," selling at $950.00, the 1817 edition of Keats' "Poems," at $1,075.00; Thomson's "Seasons," the engravings printed in color, at $1,100.00, the Jones set of the first five editions of "The Complete Angler" at $4,300.00, and the Stetson copy of Oscar Wilde's "Vera" at $710.00.

A sale of unusual quality was that of the library of Mrs. Phoebe A. Boyle of Brooklyn, at the Anderson Galleries. While this collection contained many bibliographical treasures, among them Blake's "Songs of Innocence" at $1,100.00; Browning's "Pauline" at $2,050.00, a Kilmarnock Burns at $2,000.00, and a fine Shakespeare Third Folio at $1,700.00, its unique feature was its wealth of magnificent bindings, lavishly jewelled or set with ivory miniatures, displaying in its utmost richness the modern phases of the binder's art. This sale also offered a splendid collection of illuminated manuscript transcripts, mostly by Sangorski, and richly bound. Among Holograph Manuscripts this collection contained Thackeray's two lectures on George I and II, which as a lot brought $5,000.00.

The sales of the late William Gable's collection continued throughout the season at the American Art Association. While its interest was mainly autographic, it offered a Kelmscott Chaucer at $1,300.00, another copy, in the Rothchild sale at the Anderson Galleries, bringing $975.00. The list of fine private press books for the season was unusually large, especially of the Kelmscott Press issues, which sold for excellent prices. The values of books from private presses in general were very well maintained. The library of Miss Mary Hamilton, sold at the Anderson Galleries, offered two especially interesting items, Sir Philip Sidney's "Apologie for Poetry," which brought $990.00, and the probably unique "Brief Declaration of the Shows . . . performed before the Queene's Majestie," of Henry Goldwell, probably printed in 1581, selling at $980.00.

The prices for Americana continued to be highly satisfactory. Many of the items offered were of extreme rarity and several were entirely new to the auction-room. An important sale of Western Americana on December 3rd, at the Anderson Galleries, contained Volumes II and III of the Deseret News, for 1852-53, selling at $1,010.00 and $1,005.00; a copy of Matthews "Views of Montana" at $770.00; a copy of the Act to incorporate the city of San Francisco, in 1850, at $850.00, and a copy of Louis Tarascan's "Republican Education" at $875.00. Another important sale at the American Art Association listed many numbers from the collection of H. C. Holmes of San Francisco, among them a complete file of Boutwell and Dunlap's "Californian," at $1,950.00, and Jose Figueroa's "Manifesto" of 1835, at $850.00.

The C. H. Heartman salesroom, in Metuchen, New Jersey, continued to present a remarkably interesting series of offerings. Included were Judge Samuel Sewall's file of the "Boston News Letter," 1719-1722, which brought $2,300.00, a copy of Horsmanden's "Journal," 1744, selling at $750.00, and the very scarce Franklin issue, Janeway's "Token for Children," at $750.00. The Walpole Galleries held a number of interesting sales, among them the Irish Library of Doctor J. O. Kyle, and a number of collections of books on art, costume, and typography, as well as a continuation of the collection of the late William Winter, whose theatrical books and manuscripts seemed to show a rise in value as the sales drew to a close. It would not be surprising if the present increased interest in the theater would soon lead to a wide demand for this class of material at considerably increased prices. Unfortunately a great deal of first-class theatrical matter has been offered of late years, especially following on the Wendell sales, and has been absorbed at rates so astonishingly below its real value that there has been little inducement to preserve it or bring it to the market again.

The season's autographic offerings were of such interest and importance that it has been necessary to afford them about twice the space allotted to them in the past two volumes. Besides the Conrad manuscripts collected by Mr. Quinn and the long list of transcripts illuminated for Mrs. Boyle, there should be noted in the latter sale an Autograph Letter of Paul Jones which brought $1,050.00. The Gable collections yielded many noteworthy items, such as the Kipling Manuscript, "The Scribbler," at $770.00, a fine Autograph Letter of Burns, signed "Johnnie Faa," at $2,460.00, and two Whitman Manuscripts, "Preface to Leaves of Grass," at $725.00, and "Thoughts on Shakespeare," at $1,050.00. The library of Herbert L. Rothchild, of San Francisco, sold at the Anderson Galleries, offered an interesting Swinburne Manuscript, "Wordsworth and Byron," at $1,300.00, and the Manuscript of Stevenson's "Ebb-Tide," at $2,700.00. The library of a Pennsylvania Collector presented a manuscript of Thomas Hardy, "The Doctor's Legend," at $800.00, and several Napoleon items of high value, among them the papers connected with his death at St. Helena, which brought $1,200.00, and a magnificent collection, including three manuscripts and nine autograph letters of Napoleon, with a mass of associated material, whose description covered many pages in the catalogue, and whose sale, as a single lot, realized $9,500.00. The Holmes sale included an eminent example of manuscript Americana, the journal of the pioneer, Silas Newcomb, which sold for $2,050.00.

Mr. Stan. V. Henkels, of Philadelphia, conducted a distinguished series of sales of autographic material. The Davis sale yielded the most important American piece of the season, the manuscript of Hawthorne's "Tanglewood Tales," which brought $7,500.00. The sale of the collection of Mr. Frank Cobb offered two letters of Paul Jones, at $575.00 and $1,700.00. The sale of the letters and papers of Gideon Welles presented a list of items of high value and great historic interest, among them a letter in the autograph of Nathan Hale, which brought $1,700.00, and a large number of Lincoln letters, two of which sold for $1,250.00 each.

As the volume may come into the hands of some persons not familiar with the work, the following explanation of the scheme of this work and the abbreviations used, is reprinted from the earlier issues:—

The name of the author (or, in the case of anonymous books, the first part of the title) is set in black-faced capitals.

Club or Press publications are (generally) under the Club or Press, and a few other books, such as anonymous histories and biographies, are entered under their subject. The titles of the various works of an author, printed in black-faced lower case type, are arranged in alphabetical order. This is followed by the place where printed, the printer (in a few cases), the date, and size of volume. The first portion of the description is general and applies to all copies of the work listed. Following this general description is the specific description of the copy or copies of the book as sold, each lot beginning a new line. This specific description is made up as follows:

First. A description of the binding, the abbreviations being those which are universally used and understood.

Second. A statement as to the condition of the particular copy recorded, if on large paper, with extra plates inserted, from a famous library, etc.

Third. The name of the sale, where a name was given on the catalogue. This does not mean in every case that the name as given is that of the owner of the book, as additions from other unannounced sources are often included with books of a known owner.

Fourth. Capital letter, indicating the name of the Auctioneer under whose management the sale took place.

A. is the Anderson Galleries.
B. is Charles F. Heartman.
G. is the American Art Association.
H. is Stan. V. Henkels.
W. is the Walpole Galleries.

Fifth. The date of the sale. In case of the sales of more than a single day's duration, this date is that of the first day of the sale.

Sixth. The lot number in the original sale catalogue.

Seventh. The price realized. This is the price for the lot, not per volume.
